

Flexible Payouts With Tax Rewards

A charitable remainder trust pays either a fixed annuity amount or a unitrust amount that changes each year. You may like the security of the annuity trust with the certainty that you will receive the same annual payments. However, if you opt for the unitrust, your income stream could increase over time with growth in the trust.

The unitrust offers flexible payout options to meet your needs. One popular option permits the unitrust to be invested to increase or decrease your income depending on your current needs. Another payout option used for real estate permits you to initially receive the income from property gifted to the unitrust and potentially more income once the property is sold. Feel free to call us if you have questions about a unitrust funded with stock or real estate.

Request Further Information

I have reviewed your brochure on charitable remainder trusts and:

- I would like to speak with someone who can provide additional CRT information.
- I would like to receive more information on other charitable tax planning options.

Name _____

Street _____

City _____

State / Zip _____

Home Phone _____

Work Phone _____

E-mail _____

Please complete and return. All inquiries are confidential.

The Christian Broadcasting Network
977 Centerville Turnpike, CSB112
Virginia Beach, VA 23463
Phone (800) 333-2373 or (757) 226-3446
Fax (757) 226-6483
PlannedGiving@cbn.org
www.CBNLegacy.org

(This information is provided as an educational service.
Personal advisors should always be consulted.)

Copyright © 2008 Crescendo Interactive, Inc.

Charitable Remainder Trusts

Overview and Benefits

What is a Charitable Remainder Trust?

A charitable remainder trust permits you to make a gift of your appreciated property and receive payments for a life, two lives, or a term of years. By establishing a charitable remainder trust, you can bypass capital gains tax. The trust will sell your property tax-free and then reinvest in assets that produce increased income for you and your loved ones. Best of all, you will receive a current charitable deduction for your gift of the remaining value in the trust going to charity.

The Benefits of a Charitable Remainder Trust

If you are like many of our friends who own appreciated stock or real estate, you may be concerned about the high cost of capital gains tax upon the sale of your property. Or perhaps you recently sold appreciated property and are looking for a way to offset your current tax liability with a charitable deduction. If you are entering your retirement years, you may be evaluating options for increasing your income in the future. For all of these reasons, you might consider a charitable remainder trust.

Property Gift Provides Income

Nina Jordan is a surviving spouse who wanted to move out of the family home and purchase a smaller, more manageable property. On a visit to www.CBNLegacy.org, she learned that she could make a gift of her home to establish a charitable remainder trust and receive income for life. She liked the fact that the trust would sell her home tax-free and contacted CBN Planned Giving prior to setting up her trust. Nina was excited that she would have enough income to make the monthly payments on a condominium and receive a charitable deduction for her gift.

Bypass Capital Gains

Jason and Brandy McQueen were preparing for retirement. Over the years, their stock portfolio had grown in value. With retirement on the horizon, the McQueens were looking for a way to sell their highly appreciated stock, generate income for the future, and avoid paying high capital gains tax. Through an e-mail they received from CBN Planned Giving, the McQueens learned that they could transfer their stock to a charitable remainder trust and bypass capital gains tax. The trust would sell the stock tax-free, providing them with income for retirement. The McQueens decided to make the gift and were thrilled with the added benefit of a charitable deduction and substantial tax savings.